

Engaging with the future of higher education libraries

Friday 15th March 2019

Glasgow Caledonian University London Campus
40-48 Fashion Street
Spitalfields, London, E1 6PX

Planning your journey:

By Tube/Underground: The following stations are within a 5-minute walk of Fashion Street:
Liverpool Street (Central, Circle, Hammersmith and City & Metropolitan lines)
Aldgate East (Hammersmith and City & District lines)
Aldgate (Metropolitan and Circle lines).

View London Underground map

By rail: Liverpool Street and Shoreditch High Street stations are within a 5-minute walk to Fashion Street.

Check the National Rail Enquiries website for more information.

10:00 – 10:15	Welcome and brief introduction to the day Professor Antony Morgan, Dean, Glasgow Caledonian University London
10:15 – 11:15	Understanding users, usage and the user experience Dr. Bryony Ramsden, Subject Librarian, University of Huddersfield
11:15 – 11:30	Tea/coffee break
11:30 – 12:30	Using Google apps to improve data collection and analysis – creative initiatives and the impact of GDPR Amy Stubbing, Library Co-ordinator, Royal Holloway, University of London
12:30 – 13:15	Lunch
13:15 – 14:15	Managing change – what does an inclusive library look like? Diane Job, Director of Library Services, University of Birmingham
14:15 – 15:15	Skills for the next-gen librarian – supporting excellence in teaching and learning Dr. Pamela McKinney, Senior Lecturer, University of Sheffield Information School
15:15 – 15:30	Tea/coffee break
15:30 – 16:30	Panel discussion on the library's role in the internationalisation of Higher Education, supporting researchers and European research bids Panellists to include: Dame Lynne Brindley, DBE, FRSA, HonFBA, Master of Pembroke College, Oxford & former Chief Executive of the British Library [TBC] Dr. Matthew Greenhall, Deputy Executive Director, Research Libraries UK Luisa Tramontini, International Librarians Programme Co-ordinator, Cardiff University Marion Kelt, Open Access and Research Librarian, Glasgow Caledonian University